Video Presentation

The following information provides important guidelines on how to prepare a video presentation for your paper.

- You need to submit a video presentation no matter whether you choose to attend the conference in person at the International Academic Exchange Center of Hainan University or online via Zoom.

  The deadline is November 25.

- You have a maximum of 15 minutes for your presentation. In the beginning of the video, please show your face and give a brief introduction of yourself.

- If you choose to attend the conference in-person, you will give a presentation face-to-face with the attendees.

- If you choose the online option, attendees will watch your video at their own convenience before logging in to a pre-scheduled live session via Zoom during the conference to ask questions related to your presentation. In other words, the live discussion is focused on Q/A rather than repeating the entire presentation that is available in your video.

- You should name your video as "Part1-Part2" where Part 1 is your paper ID and Part 2 contains the first 5 Words of your paper title. The video can be in any of the following 4 formats: mp4, mov, wmv, and avi.

  Your paper ID can be found in the acceptance notification email we sent to you.

- There are three ways to submit your QRS 2021 video presentation:

  Option 1. Send it via email to qrsconf@gmail.com
  If you choose this option, please include your paper ID as part of the subject of your email.

  Option 2. Upload it to your BaiduCloud Drive and send a shared link to qrsconf@gmail.com

  Option 3. Upload it directly through this link.

If you have any questions including an inquiry about your paper ID, please contact Dongcheng Li.